The next time you are down town—come in

We want to show you the Royal Rest Chair, the 'Push Button Kind.' It has the cleverest device for regulating the position of the back. All you have to do is to touch a button and get twenty different positions.

Now, what do you think of that? Besides, it's a handsome chair and you can choose from a large number of styles until you find something that just suits you. Expensive? Oh, no! You'll be surprised how reasonable the prices are. Come in, please. We will urge you to buy.

"Push the Button and Rest"

Chair (like illustration). Frame, solid oak, wax finish; upholstered in genuine leather, and stuffed with moss and curled hair.

Price . . . $28.00
(Others from $12.00 up)

Globe-Wernicke Bookcases

are made in sections or units. These units are of solid and not collapsible construction, which makes it possible to remove a unit with contents intact, and without risk of collapse.

The fronts are selected White Oak or Mahogany, and the ends solid Oak or real Mahogany. They are not veneered. The backs and bottoms are three-ply, which offsets any tendency to warp, split or swell.

The interlocking Strip is an inconspicuous device intended to secure a more perfect alignment when two or more tiers are placed side by side.

Furnished in Standard, Mission and Ideal styles.

Those who prefer units without the interlocking end strip, can obtain them in the Art-mission Style.

In addition to showing a large line of Globe-Wernicke Bookcases we also show the Danner, Macey and Gunn makes.

One of the coldest days of the winter was registered this morning by the thermometers about the city. The lowest report heard was 28 below, and there are many reports of 24 and 30. For the second time this week, the stonewalls were not opened up for work on account of the cold this morning.

Street Superintendent DeBrune with eight teams and a gang of 20 men started in early this morning carting the snow off Main street. About eight inches fell yesterday and last night. It stopped snowing about midnight and began to grow cold. The superintendent had nine snow plows going at 4 o'clock this morning and by eight had the walks all plowed out. The superintendent states that this is the first storm of any consequence at all since December. During all the month of January there was not a fall of snow that made it necessary even to plow out the walks. In December there were several days when the plows were out.

It's another mighty fine program at the Pavilion the last half of this week. Both acts are features and the wide difference in theme makes a program that is seldom equalled. In Orville and Frank, the audience gets an act that at times makes them hold their breath. We have seen many aerial acts, but never before have we seen an aerial performer work on a trapeze where its only support was gotten from a balance on the soles of another's feet, as this trapeze is supported, and the trapeze is high up in the peak of the building, while the man that balances it is lying on the floor. It will be many a day before the patrons of the Pavilion will see an act that equals it. While the three Mitchells were working to a disadvantage, in getting in so late as to make it impossible to get a rehearsal of their music, they showed up excellently. Their comedy and dancing is of the best, and this, combined with an unusual amount of snap and go, makes their act very pleasing, indeed. A new program of pictures comes to-day.

Several persons from this city are planning to attend the concert and ball held in Williamstown this evening under the auspices of Summit lodge, OX. 104, F. and A. M. Riley's orchestra will furnish music for the affair.

A very pleasant surprise was given Miss Mary Anderson at her rooms at the home of her sister, Mrs. David Beattie, on Brook street last evening, when about 20 of her friends called to remind her that she had passed another milestone. The evening was spent in singing and story-telling, songs were sung by Mrs. George Williamson and Mrs. Charles Leslie and a trio by Mrs. Alfred Milne, Mrs. G. P. Milne and Mrs. Kenneth Milne. Mrs. David Beattie kept the company in laughter by giving them comedians. Mrs. George Stewart and Mrs. Angus played a piano duet, after which refreshments were served by Mrs. Willie Stephens and Mrs. Duncan McMillan. Mrs. G. P. Milne, in a few well-chosen words, in behalf of the company, presented Miss Anderson a silk umbrella, for which Miss Anderson expressed her thanks. A very pleasant evening was spent.
